

Mirror Odyssey: An Epic Journey from North Wales to the Black Sea

In the summer of 2019, I embarked on an epic journey from North Wales to the Black Sea, retracing the steps of a legendary Welsh prince. This was Mirror Odyssey, a 3,000 mile adventure by kayak, bike and foot.

The journey began in the remote village of Aberdaron, on the rugged coast of North Wales. From there, I paddled my kayak across the Irish Sea to Ireland, before cycling through the stunning landscapes of Scotland and England.

I then crossed the English Channel to France, and continued my journey through Belgium, the Netherlands and Germany. In Berlin, I traded my bike for a pair of hiking boots, and began the long trek across the Alps.

After crossing the Alps, I entered Italy, where I paddled my kayak down the River Po to the Adriatic Sea. From there, I cycled along the coast of Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Montenegro.

Finally, I reached the Black Sea, at the port city of Varna, Bulgaria. I had completed my 3,000 mile journey, and in the process, I had retraced the steps of a legendary Welsh prince.

The Mirror Odyssey was an epic journey, both physically and mentally. I faced many challenges along the way, but I also experienced some of the most amazing moments of my life.

I saw some of the most beautiful scenery in the world, and I met some incredible people. I learned a lot about myself, and I came to appreciate the power of human endurance.

The Mirror Odyssey was more than just a journey. It was an adventure, an exploration, and a discovery. It was a journey that changed my life.

Here are some of the highlights of my journey:

- Paddling my kayak across the Irish Sea in rough seas
- Cycling through the stunning landscapes of Scotland and England
- Hiking across the Alps in the rain and snow
- Paddling my kayak down the River Po in Italy
- Cycling along the coast of Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Montenegro
- Reaching the Black Sea at the port city of Varna, Bulgaria

I learned a lot about myself on this journey, including:

- I am more resilient than I thought I was.
- I can achieve anything I set my mind to.
- The world is a beautiful place, and there are amazing people everywhere.
- The power of human endurance is incredible.

The Mirror Odyssey was an experience that I will never forget. It was a journey that changed my life.

If you are looking for an adventure, I encourage you to take on a challenge. Step outside of your comfort zone and see what you are capable of. You might just surprise yourself.

Thank you for reading about my journey. I hope that it inspires you to go on your own adventure.
